Measures to protect complainants/informants/witnesses and maintain confidentiality

1. Consideration of complaints shall specify the confidentiality level and protect the relevant persons according to the regulations on the preservation of government secrets B.E. 2544. When submitting a case to the agency for consideration, the informant and the complainant may suffer. For example, a complaint against a civil servant shall initially be considered a government secret. If it is a suspicious card, only those cases that clearly state evidence, circumstances, and witnesses shall be considered. The information on influential persons shall conceal the name and address of the complainant. If the name and address of the complainant are not concealed, the relevant agency shall be notified and the complainant shall be protected as follows: "The commander shall exercise discretion and order as appropriate to protect the complainant, witnesses, and persons who provide information in the investigation from any danger or injustice that may arise from the complaint, being a witness, or providing information." In cases where the accused person's name is specified, both the complainant and the accused must be protected because the matter has not yet gone through the fact-finding process and may be considered as a harassment accusation that causes distress and damage. In cases where the complainant states in the petition to conceal or does not wish to disclose the complainant's name, the agency must not disclose the complainant's name to the accused agency because the complainant may suffer distress as a result of the complaint.

Informing influential persons must conceal the name and address of the complainant. If the name and address of the complainant are not concealed, the relevant agency must be informed and the complainant must be protected as follows: "The commanding officer must exercise discretion and order appropriately to protect the complainant, witnesses, and persons who provide information in the investigation, so that they do not suffer harm or injustice that may arise from the complaint, being a witness, or providing such information." In the case where the accused person's name is specified, both the complainant and the accused must be protected because this matter has not yet gone through the fact-finding process and may be a harassment accusation that causes distress and damage. In the case where the complainant states in the request to conceal or does not want the complainant's name to be disclosed, the agency must not disclose the complainant's name to the complaining agency because the complainant may suffer distress as a result of the complaint.

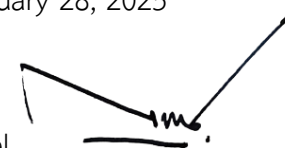

2. When a complaint is filed, the complainant and witnesses will not be subject to any action that affects their work or livelihood. If any action is necessary, such as separating the workplace to prevent the complainant, witness and accused from meeting, etc., the consent of the complainant and witness must be obtained.

3. Requests from the injured party, petitioner or witness, such as requests to change workplaces or methods to prevent or solve problems, should be considered by the responsible person or agency as appropriate.

4. Provide protection to complainants from being harassed.
